Ayer's Sarsaparilla is designed for those who need a medicine to purify their blood, build them up, increase their appetite, and reinvigorate their whole system. No other preparation so well meets this want. Its record of forty years is one of constant triumph over disease.

Wait until the renegade Apaches cross into Mexico. The Mexican troops will make up for the short comings on the other side. It is said to be a fact that the Apaches stand in wholesome fear of Mexican troops.—Two Republics. From this it would seem that the Indians are not afraid of our soldiers, while they stand in mortal fear of the Mexican soldiers.

When a cold or other cause checks the secretory organs, their natural healthy action should be restored by the use of Ayer's Pills, and inflammatory material thereby removed from the system. Much suffering may be prevented by thus correcting those slight derangements which, otherwise, develop into settled disease.

Special advices state that much excitement prevails at St. Johns, the county seat of Apache county, over the arrest of Sol Barth, a wealthy stockman and merchant, and ex-member of the legislature. He is charged with piracy and other criminal offenses and has given bail for his appearance at the district court in the sum of $4,000. Sheriff Mutzenbacher, of Navajo, effected the arrest, the sheriff of Apache declining to do so.

DEAD INDIANS.

THE BODY OF TWO INDIANS FOUND IN DOUBTFUL CANYON.

Canyon, by a Party of The Clifton Rifles—Supposed To Have Been Killed

In the Fight With the Rifles About two Weeks Ago. And Made Good.

Last evening Alex. Cody, Buck Tyson, James Parks and Dick Mays returned to Duncan, having thoroughly scouted the country near Doubtful canon. They found the bodies of two dead Indians, one within 200 and the other within 300 yards of the trail over which the Indians retreated in the fight of the 6th inst., in which Capt. Lyle Fisher and First Lieutenant W. J. Peeks, with about twenty-five men from Duncan, Clifton and Carbon whipped an equal number of Indians and chased them one and a-half miles, when night prevented further chase. The papoose captured at this fight is still here, in hospitable hands, but report of the finding of the dead bodies of these Indians reached here several days ago, and was not credited, but as they have been found by our own men, we now know it is fact. As the trail beyond these bodies was very rocky, we feel certain other Indians were killed and wounded. When the chase ceased it was too dark to hunt for dead Indians, which accounts for the pursuing party not finding any.—Clarion.

Death of Frank Hatch.

About the first of last March, Frank Hatch was taken sick with the Typhoid fever, and after a severe spell of sickness lasting some two weeks he was unable to attend his duties again, but he got up as soon as had a relapse, and since return of April he has been confined to his bed and has been slowly sinking ever since. On Wednesday last his physician saw that there was no hope for him, and his brother, who is the sheriff of San Mateo county, California, was sent for, and will arrive this evening. The physician has been giving him stimulants for several days, but is yet to be able to keep him alive until his brother arrived, but it was of no avail, for his spirit left his earthly body at half past six o'clock today, and returned to him that gave it.

Francis William Hatch was born in 1857, and was 32 years of age at the time of his death. He was always delicate and during his last illness was a great but patient sufferer.

He has resided in Tombstone for the past five years, during which time he has been engaged as bartender for the firm of P. W. Smith & Co., Overholser & Co., and Babb, Guise & Priddy. He has also been city treasurer for the past three years and has filled the position with credit to himself and to the city.

Charles M. Burkhalter ticket seller in the Benson office and well known in this city, was married to Miss Jessie Waggy, in Tucson on Thursday last, and then went to their future home in Benson. Both the bride and groom are well known in this city, and their many friends will be pleased to learn that they will reside so near us. Their journey through life will be a continued round of pleasure is the wish of THE TOMBSTONE.

The death of this young man has cast quite a gloom over our city.

The various flags about town were hung at half mast to-day, out of respect to the memory of the late City Treasurer Frank Hatch.

GONE TO GLORY.

BY THE SIX SHOOTER ROUTE IN A HURRY.

James H. Milliken Fires Six Shots Into the Body of James Lee, in Texas.

Two Contractors at Weatherford, Texas, Who Could Not Agree.

A recent dispatch from Texas gives the following account of a killing in Weatherford recently:

James H. Milliken, a man prominent in local and business circles here, shot and killed James Lee, his partner in a contract for the building of Parker County's new courthouse at 9 o'clock this morning. The killing took place in the office of Elliott & Meads. Lee had previously called at this office to call for Mr. Cooper, and had sat down on the piano side of the room and commenced reading a newspaper. Presently Milliken and Fred De Smith came to the door on the south side of the office and also asked for Mr. Cooper. As Milliken entered he saw Lee.

At this point the testimony of witnesses at the inquest, held by Justice Squier diff.

ers.

Mr. JOHN W. PAINTER TESTIFIED: Milliken said: "James Lee," and then drew his pistol and fired.

Immediately after receiving the first shot Lee jumped from his chair, exclaiming "oh, God," and fell, and as he fell Milliken fired several shots in rapid succession.

So far as I know Lee was not armed.

F. H. Sparrow testified: Milliken entered the office and said, "James Lee," and fired

* * * Did not see any weapon on Lee.

Fred De Smith testified: Milliken and I were going to meet the train. After stopping at several places we went to Elliott & Meads, where we saw Jim Lee with his legs crossed. He unbuttoned his legs and quickly advanced toward Milliken, when Milliken fired. No Lee was on the north side but the door is on the south. Lee advanced toward Milliken and Milliken fired two or three shots before he fell. Milliken did not run when Lee came to me. He made no reference to Lee whatever. Lee fell with his head toward the east door. I have heard a good deal of talk around about Lee taking Milliken's life. I never heard Milliken threaten Lee's life. I only heard him say that he wanted a settlement of their business matters and that he could have it soon.

Dr. Novine and Ingalls & Smith testified the following round top Lee body: One hole cut into the left of the cervical vertebrae and came out between the second and third; another entered to the right of the spinal column and came out to the right of the breast bone; one half passed through the arm, entered the right side and passed out at the junction of the scapulae; one ball passed through the third finger of the left hand and through the掌骨; another entered the left side below the ring finger; one ball passed through the thumb; Lee was dead when we found him. There were six shots found. The one entering the back of the head, the one in the neck and the one in the back of the chest were fatal. The pellet, I think, was a .45 calibre pistol.

The jury rendered a verdict to the effect that Lee came to his death by bullets fired from a pistol in the hands of James H. Lee. Mr. MILLIKEN, who had given himself up shortly after the killing, was remanded to the custody of the sheriff with instructions to have him appear for preliminary examination at 2 p.m. Milliken appeared before the justice for his preliminary trial, who by consent of course laid the case, was continued until the following day.

Cause of the difficulty. James H. Lee, who had been the superintendent under both of these gentlemen in the construction of the courthouse, was asked the question:

Did you not argue few days ago, like as affidavit in regard to the way Mr. Lee was using money and placing demands on the pay roll, for which he was drawing pay?

He replied: I do not know whether [
